LEGION PAPER INTRODUCES LEGION BAMBOO

A new eco-friendly paper perfect for all printing techniques

New York, NY (January 22, 2009) – Legion Paper, the leading worldwide supplier of fine art paper, introduces a new choice in eco-friendly paper. Legion Bamboo, a new fine art paper manufactured with fibers from the bamboo plant, complements the vast collection of eco-friendly papers that Legion Paper offers.

“Legion Bamboo is unlike any other fine art paper,” said Joshua Levine, CEO of Legion Paper. “The surface with its unique and subtle texture presents an exciting new option for all printmakers, stationery designers and artists,” added Mr. Levine.

Legion Bamboo is made from 90% bamboo and 10% cotton fibers to produce an extremely durable paper ideal for all printing processes including letterpress. Bamboo is a highly renewable plant resource that grows quickly in many environments. “Legion Bamboo presents another alternative to artists and designers seeking a new environmentally friendly paper for their next project,” said Mr. Levine.

The new Legion Bamboo is a 265gsm sheet available in 27.5” x 39” (70cm x 100cm) and 27.5” x 19.5” (70cm x 50cm) sizes. Matching Legion Textured envelopes complement the classic warm tone of the bamboo paper.
