Contains the full collection in the new 4” wide format

New York, NY (July 10, 2007) – Legion Paper, the leading supplier of fine art paper in North America, is proud to announce the release of the new Rising Museum Board corner kits. This new kit contains many advantageous features to assist the framer and artist in choosing the best museum quality Rising mounting board.

The comprehensive corner kit represents the full Rising Museum Board range of colors and sizes, featuring 24 samples. The corner boards are now available in the larger 4” size to better enable framers to match a Rising mat board up to their artwork. Full product specifications are clearly detailed on each corner sample, including all the available board sizes of a particular color.

Rising Museum Board remains the premiere brand and has set the standard as the preferred choice used by museums, galleries and framers worldwide. Rising’s 100% rag content, archival qualities and focused color palette of black, whites and off-whites is recognized industry-wide as the finest museum-quality mounting board due to its superior and precise cut to produce an ultra-sharp bevel.
